Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

DR. N. D. PHILLIPS.

Beautiful Tribute to One of Gainesville's Best Citizens.

Dr. Newton DeKalb Phillips, whose remains were laid to rest in Evergreen Cemetery on the 7th inst., had practiced medicine in Gainesville for thirty years, only retiring from practice about five years prior to his death. He was one of the most skillful surgeons in the South, and one of the pioneers of advanced surgery in Florida. He was at one time president of the State Medical Association of Florida, and his opinions have ever been held in the highest esteem by his colleagues throughout the State. He was a born physician, and brought to the aid of his skill, confident, general manners that inspired confidence in his patients, and gave them courage to fight disease. Blessed with a fine physique, straight, tall and handsome, he was regarded as one of the most strikingly distinguished looking men in the State.

Though devoted to his adopted State of Florida, and keenly interested in anything pertaining to her welfare, Dr. Phillips was a native of Mississippi, having been born in Hines county, that State, May 30th, 1835, and while still a child removed with his parents to Jasper county, same State. In 1860 he graduated from Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, and at the outbreak of the Civil War entered the Southern army as battalion surgeon, Smith's Battery, Army of Tennessee, participating in many of the most sanguinary battles of the war, among them the great battles in the vicinity of Chattanooga. He was a fine conversationalist, and many who enjoyed his intimate acquaintance will remember his graphic description of those stirring scenes.

Dr. Phillips was twice married. His first wife, who was Miss Annie Jordan, lived but a year after marriage; and he was again married in 1869 to Miss Kate Jordan, who survives him. Five children were born of this marriage, and but two are now living—Mrs. C. B. Wilmer of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Lemuel R. Woods of Tampa, Fla. He is also survived by nine grandchildren. Other relatives in this State are: Mrs. W. W. Hampton and family, Mrs. C. J. Richards and family, and the family of Mr. B. F. Jordan.

Few men who have lived in Gainesville were so universally loved and respected as Dr. Phillips, and the closing of the business houses of the city that all might attend his funeral ceremonies was an evidence of that love and respect. For more than thirty years he was a familiar figure on the streets of Gainesville, one of her leaders, and one of her most distinguished citizens. On every page of her history in those years his name will be written, and always in letters of gold. During the yellow fever epidemic of 1888 he gave his services as a physician, and was also a member of the board of health. While ministering to others he contracted the fever and came near losing his own life.

A consistent Christian, he was very prominent in church work, and was for many years vestryman and junior warden of Trinity church.

For several years he had been in failing health, and a recent accident, resulting in a broken hip, hastened his death, which occurred at the residence of his son-in-law, Wylie Travis, in Jacksonville, on the 6th inst. Fortunately, nearly all the immediate members of his family were present in his last moments.

Thus ends the mortal career of a good man who cherished the highest ideals and lived up to them; who never shirked a duty; who, though gentle and sympathetic as a woman, became masterful in time of stress, and who, having lived a clean, beautiful life, approached his end.

of a waterspout attempting to drop down from the clouds out over the ocean about east from the Royal Poinciana Hotel pier. A heavy bordered cloud was passing to the southeast when its lower edge projected a point at first that soon lengthened out into a "spout" at times 100 to 150 feet long apparently, though probably much longer. It seemed to attempt to reach down into the ocean, but at no time did it connect with the water below. It lasted for some fifteen minutes or so until the cloud approached the land, but finally it slowly drew up and finally disappeared in the clouds.

Col. Blount Visits Gainesville.

Col. W. A. Blount of Pensacola was a most welcome visitor to The Sun office yesterday. Col. Blount is visiting the more important towns of the State in the interest of his candidacy for the United States Senate, and is making a good impression with the people. He is regarded as the ablest lawyer in Florida and is universally beloved by the people of West Florida, where he is best known. At the unanimous request of the Democrats of Escambia county he served four years in the State Senate, declining re-election. The people of Gainesville were glad to have the distinguished gentleman spend the day here, and extended him a cordial welcome.

By a special invitation from President Murphree, Mr. Blount delivered an impromptu speech before the student body after chapel exercises yesterday morning.

A Banquet

Spread before you would do you no good if you couldn't eat. What good can food do a child when as soon as it enters its stomach it is eaten by worms. That's the reason your baby is ailing, cross, pasty-faced and thin. Give it White's Cream Vermifuge. It will expel the worms and act as a tonic for the child. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Safe.

"The worst thing that can be said about him is that he has no intimate friends." "When a man has no intimate friends there is no one to say bad things about him."—Hous 100 Post.

The Evil of It.

Dumbleton-Fritter's chief fault is that his temper occasionally gets the best of him. Flasher—Very true, and that wouldn't be so bad if it didn't reveal the worst of him.
